DISCOVER

BRIEF

Client, Libraries in Gent, wants a new and improved way of enabling readers to discover and read book. With this application, users will be able to look for desired books without the need to go to the library itself. This will ensure faster and more efficient way of borrowing books. Target audience are students and frequent readers, but also, kids and older people who love books, in one word, all the book-lovers in Gent. Current available information is, of course the libraries themselves. Currently, there is no talk of budget, so it will be discussed later on. The timing for realization of this project is until the end of January.

DEFINE

ANALYSIS

All the data used for this application will be gathered from existing websites and free datasets provided by city Gent. Application will enable users a quick and simple way to explore all needed information about the desired book or books.If the all copies of wanted book are already borrowed, the user has a possibility to reserve a copy and wil be notified as soon as the book is returned. Naturally, users can browse the current stock of books but they can also learn if there are some new book releases in the following couple of days. Also, users will be able to create their own wish list with all the books they want to read, but also, a list of all the books they allready read and even make their own rating system.

BASIC INFORMATION

Name	Jack
Last name	Teach
Age	25
Adress	Gent
Income	1000 €
Devices	Smartphone Tablet PC
Status	Single

DESCRIPTION

Jack is a exchange student from London and he moved to Gent one year ago to study philosophy. Since he's been in Gent he moved from five different apartments so he is quite a adventures type. He is constantly on the move and doesn't have time to be at one place for long. In his free time he likes to travel as much as possible. So in his travels he has a lot time to read while traveling by bus or train.

His first encounter with the app was via his friend who recommended it to him since he reads a lot and is often on the move. Jack loves the simplicity and how fast you can get to the desired information about the books. Since than, Jack no longer has to waste time on going to library to search for the books, now, he can do everything while he is on the bus or at the campus, without going on a library website or having to call to check the status of the books.

"Life is to short to be stuck in the line in the library!"

PERSONA SHEET

DESCRIPTION

Sofie is a young successful woman in a lawyer office. Since her work takes a bog part of her day, that little time that she has left she spends on her boyfriend or relaxing by the window with the book in her hands. She often reads work related book so she can be more productive and better at her job.

Due to her long hours at work, she seldom has time to go to library an search for a book. The websites are to confusing or poorly designed. With the app, she doesn't need to spend so much time on searching and can focus on more important things in live. Also, she tries to convince her boyfriend to star reading so she likes the wide variety of genres present in the app.
